Convict Who Put Finger On Barrow And Bonnie Parker Gets Pardon From Austin

AUSTIN—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today granted a conditional pardon to Henry Methvin, escaped Texas convict, because he furnished the information that led to the fatal ambush of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, Texas desperadoes, by Louisiana and Texas officers.

Frank Hamer, who planned details of the trap in which Barrow and his quick shooting woman companion were mowed down, signed the applicatin for executive clemency jointly with Lee Simmons, general manager of the Texas prison system.

The governor's proclamation will be filed tomorrow.

Methvin escaped from the Eastham prison farm January 16, 1934, in a prison break engineered by Barrow. Methvin escaped with Raymond Hamilton, Joe Palmer and another convict under cover of a barage of machine gun bullets laid down by Barrow in which one guard Major Crowson, was killed and another injured.

Palmer and Hamilton were sentenced to death for Crowson's murder, but escaped from the penitentiary death house with a third condemned man, Blackie Thompson, in the most daring break in the state's history July 22. Palmer was captured in Paducah, Ky. Hamilton and Thompson are still at large.

Pundt's Election To Commission Regarded Certain In Texas

Reports coming into the Dallas headquarters of John Pundt, candidate for Railroad Commissioner, are to the effect that he will be elected overwhelmingly over Lon Smith in the Aug. 25 "run off" primary. These reports come from practically every county in the State and indicate that thousands of voters who supported other candidates in the July primary are rallying to the Pundt platform.

The Pundt program, which has caused universal favorable comment throughout Texas holds out to labor, agriculture and industry the only ray of hope in the railroad commission campaign.

John Pundt's platform includes these three major points: honest and impartial enforcement of the oil laws; lowering of freight rates and revaluation of railroad properties in Texas; and the increase of the load limits on motor trucks.

Briefly this means the end of the "hot oil racket" in Texas, cheaper rail rates for farmers and merchants and lower truck rates for general business benefit.

City Officers

To The Voters of Milam County:

The corporations in and out of Texas are using every effort to avoid payment of any part of the 100 million dollars spent by the state government at Austin each year for state purposes.

The exemption of all property from taxation for state purposes is their latest plan. If made a law it will exempt from taxation a billion dollars of property belonging to these corporations, and the burden will be shifted on to the plain people.

Mr. Hunter favors the exemption and Mr. Allred opposes it. The issue is thus made plain. If you favor the exemption, vote for Hunter. If you oppose the exemption, vote for Allred.

The plan originated with Jas. E. Ferguson. After the election in 1932, he declared in favor of the Sales Tax, but did not mention the exemption; and Gov. Ferguson in her message to the Legislature recommended the Sales Tax and attached to the message the Sales Tax Bill. The bill was not only for Sales Tax, but for the exemption of all property from taxation for state purposes.

Nothing more was heard of the Sales Tax or the exemption of property from taxation until Mr. McDonald and Mr. Hunter announced for governor, both declaring that the Ad Valorem or property tax must be abolished.

Mr. McDonald is supporting Mr. Hunter in the run-off primary, and so is Gov. Jas. E. Ferguson with his great influence.

The Ferguson-Hunter plan of exempting property from taxation for state purposes is new in Texas. It suffered a signal defeat at the last Legislature, and without Gov. Jas. E. Ferguson and his influence, it is doubted if Mr. Hunter, favoring the exemption, can receive the nomination at the August primary.

The Allred For Governor Club do not favor the plan of exempting property from taxation and for that reason they believe it will be to the best interest of the people of Texas to elect James V. Allred Governor.

From The MAIL BOX

To The Cameron Herald:

Mr. Hunter disclaims the authorship of the famous letter of 1932 committing him to the Sales Tax; and declares with emphasis that he opposed the Sales Tax when the bill was before the Legislature.

Why should Mr. Hunter disclaim the letter, and why should he declare with such emphasis that he was against the Sales Tax in 1932, when in truth and in fact, the platform upon which he stands as a candidate for governor is a Sales Tax platform.

The original Ferguson Sales Tax Bill introduced in thh Legislature and the platform of Mr. Hunter both declare for the exemption of property from taxation for State purposes. They are one and the same. This was the "pisen" thing in the bill that the people of Texas so much opposed.

The exemption of property from taxation for state purposes was advocated for the first time in Texas by Gov. James E. Ferguson after the November election in 1932. It was contained in the Sales Tax Bill recommended to the Legislature in the first message of Gov. Ferguson, and both Mr. McDonald and Mr. Hunter advocated it in their platforms for governor.

Mr. Hunter says that his tax plan is a blended one. This is true. His plan is to exempt property from taxation and blend this with his advocacy of an income tax on higher brackets and the "intangible assets tax." The Ferguson plan was also a blended one. This was a plan to blend the exemption of property from taxes with a sales tax on everything the people eat, wear, or use.

It will thus be seen that the Ferguson plan and the Hunter plan are the same—a property exempt blended system.

Governor James E. Ferguson, Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, Mr. Hunter and C. C. McDonald are the only candidates in Texas who ever advocated the exemption of all property from taxation for State purposes.

Kept Taking Cardui Until She Got Rid of the Severe Pains

When Mrs. Ida Hege, of Edinburg, Ind., was in a painful, run-down condition, she took Cardui, with the results she describes below: "I had just been what one might say dragging around, feeling miserable and all out of sorts. I remembered how Cardui helped my aunt. I sent for six bottles of Cardui and when I had taken them, I was much better and stronger. I did not suffer so much pain. I continued taking Cardui until I had taken nine bottles. I do not have the severe pains." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. a
